

#11: Dust off Your Policies (NB)

Your written policies can make or break your case in litigation, simplify or complicate your life in HR, and build up or break down a worker friendly environment for your employees. This session will review the difference between a policy and a contract. It will then review handbook provisions that minimize the likelihood of litigation, improve employee relations, and help you build legal protections or compliance.

- Jennifer Buckley, Partner, Clark Hill